This information is from the website of Catholic Charities of Baltimore (www.catholiccharities-md.org):

On the 13th of April in 1857, the Daughters of Charity formed a corporate body under the name of "St. Vincent's Infant Asylum of the City of Baltimore." From its inception until today, St. Vincent's "asylum" provided "a place of refuge" for the children brought to its door. The original charter states that St. Vincent's would "establish and maintain in the city of Baltimore an institution for the maintenance and support of foundlings and infant orphan children; and also provide for deserving indigent and unprotected females during their confinement in childbirth." On February 8, 1860, St. Vincent's Infant Asylum moved to its permanent home for the next 74 years at Lafayette and Divisions Streets.¹

1894 Apr 12 Burial: New Cathedral Cemetery,Baltimore,,Maryland USA. The New Cathedral Cemetery, The Mannion/Manion Lot 14, Section Q, grave # 4.

The cemetery records have the name as John Mannion even though the death record is listed as John Manning. This John Mannion was the first of three John Mannions born to William Mannion and Agnes Mooney. John was the 2nd of 10 Mannion/Manion family members to be buried in this lot at New Cathedral Cemetery. The first was his aunt Catherine Mannion, sister of William Mannion.
